

TWO INJURED IN CRASH OF CAR AND TRUCK

The wife of a former Cumberland county district attorney and his daughter were seriously injured at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when their Lincoln convertible coupe crashed into a tractor-trailer truck two miles south of Abbottstown on the Abbottstown-Hanover highway, according to state police of the Gettysburg station, who investigated the accident.

Mrs. Mary D. Harrigan, 46, of Mechanicsburg R. 2, wife of Attorney Ray T. Harrigan, who has law offices in Carlisle, suffered deep lacerations of both knees, contusions and lacerations of the head and several fractured ribs. Their daughter, Julia Harrigan, 24, suffered lacerations of the forehead, left chest and a fractured skull. Both women were taken to the Hanover general hospital.

Damage Is $4,000

State police said a tractor truck with platform trailer owned by Lucking brothers, York, and driven by Donald R. Yingling, 23, of York R. 7, was going north. As it topped the crest of a rise, state police said Yingling reported seeing a truck emerging from a farmyard, and applied his brakes. The road was wet, police said, and the tractor-trailer skidded across the highway. The Harrigan car, traveling south, ran into the right side of the trailer.

Police said the skidding tractor-trailer carried the Harrigan car back 37 feet. It was almost completely demolished. Yingling suffered a laceration of the forehead. Police placed the total damage at more than $4,000.

50 CUBBERS AND LEADERS VISIT WASHINGTON

Members of the Community Cub Pack No. 73 of Gettysburg and their leaders, visited the capitol, the Smithsonian Institute, the zoo and many other points of interest in Washington Wednesday. There were 50 in the party, which made the trip by bus.

William R. Swisher, cub master, was in charge. The group left Gettysburg at 7 a. m. and returned about 9:30 p. m. At the capitol, the Cubs heard Vice President Alben Barkley and others speak; they visited the Lincoln, Jefferson and Washington memorials, and ate a box lunch along the banks of the Potomac river. Before returning home, they had dinner in a Washington restaurant.

Those In Party

Assisting Mr. Swisher were Kenneth Bream, Donald Warrenfeltz, Mrs. Plummer, Mrs. E. Donald Scott and Mrs. Harry Lower. Den chiefs who accompanied the group were Luther Everley, Phelps Pennington, David Dickson, Raymond Creager and Dewey Collins.

Plans are underway by the club to sponsor several band concerts during the coming months. The Upper Adams Joint high school band will give these concerts which will be held at or near the square provided permission is granted by the borough authorities. Arrangements are in charge of Lloyd Klinefelter and Kenneth Alwine.

The club went on record in favor of the collection point for telephone fees being moved to Biglerville. Plan Feature Days

SPECIAL RITES HELD BY IOOF

State officials of the Encampment branch of the Odd Fellows were present Wednesday evening for exercises held by Union Encampment at the IOOF hall here. The exercises marked the 120th anniversary of the establishment of the Patriarchal order of Odd Fellowship in the United States.

Grand Patriarch Allen W. Ditter, Palmyra, headed the group of officers, all of whom spoke briefly. Other grand officers present included Walter W. Leibfried, scribe; Walter Landis, Washington, Pa., marshal; Paul Kleinerd, York, outside sentinel; D. J. Yohe, Harrisburg, inside sentinel; Lewis Schauble, past grand patriarch; Lloyd Eaton, Erie, junior warden; Kenneth Felker, Bethlehem, district deputy grand marshal.

The principal talk of the evening was given by Dr. Jacob M. Myers of the local Lutheran theological seminary. Refreshments were served following the meeting. Donald Weikert, who with J. Frank Dougherty comprised the committee on arrangements for the affair, presided.

The local encampment voted to discontinue meetings during July, resuming regular sessions August 17. BAND TO REHEARSE

A rehearsal for members of the Blue and Gray band of Gettysburg will be held this evening at 8:30 o'clock at the engine house. The band is preparing for public concert in Center square June 23.

ROUTE 30 IS NEARLY READY

The section of the new Lincoln highway between McKittrickstown and Newman's park may be open to traffic within the next two to three weeks, a representative of one of the contracting firms said today.

The laying of concrete on the three-lane highway which leaves the old Lincoln highway a short distance east of McKittrickstown and joins another new section at the foot of Mt. Newman below Newman's park, was completed Monday by the Williams Paving company of Norfolk, Va.

The C. J. Langenfelder and Son company of Baltimore is completing the grading and work on the shoulders of the road and placing guard rails. Another contractor is laying blacktop where intersecting highways cross the new road.

Most of the equipment of both the Langenfelder and Williams companies has been removed from the road job. The highway will be opened as soon as it is accepted by the state, contractors' representatives said.

Two motorists were fined for improper passes at road intersections. Hubert A. Martin, Lancaster, and Wilmer E. Oberholzer, Mt. Joy, were fined $10 and costs each before Justice of the Peace Robert Bell, Gettysburg R. 4, on this charge.

Kenneth Morgan, Conshohocken, was fined $10 and costs by Squire Bell on a charge of driving on the left side of the highway.

Truman Blames Spy Furore On "Post-War Hysteria"

Washington, June 16 (AP)—President Truman today attributed the furore over spy investigations to post war hysteria. He said it occurs after every war but eventually dies out.

When the subject was raised at his news conference, Mr. Truman suggested that reporters read the history of the Alien and Sedition laws in the 1790s.

He said people will be surprised at the parallel of those laws with today's events. He also advised reading how those cases came out.

Asked how the lesson of the earlier days might be applied today, he urged the reading of the history in the Jefferson administration.

He said the hysteria in those days died out; that the country didn't go to hell at all, and it's not going to now.

When a reporter said the first thing Jefferson did was to release 11 newspaper publishers, Mr. Truman laughed and said Jefferson probably made a mistake. He added that Jefferson also released a federal judge.

The president said hysteria happens after every great war. He recalled that the Ku Klux Klan wanted to clean up the country after the first World War and mentioned the activities of the KKK in Indiana.

Asked if the executive branch of the government was affected by hysteria, the President said it was not but added he will clear them out if he finds any.

The Justice Department at present is prosecuting two major cases involving alleged aid to foreign agents. Judith Coplon, former Justice Department employee, is on trial here, accused of espionage for Russia. Alger Hiss, former State Department official, is on trial in New York on charges of perjury.

The charges grew out of allegations that he gave secret government information to a Communist spy ring.

MAKE PLANS FOR SECOND ANNUAL FIELD CONTEST

Preliminary plans for the second annual pasture improvement contest to be held by the county Agricultural Conservation association were outlined Wednesday evening at a meeting of chairmen of the various community committees held at the association's office, North Washington street.

Farmers who wish to take part in the "Green Pastures" contest must make application prior to July 1, it was decided, and application blanks are available either from the community committee chairmen or at the county office.

Last year 24 farmers entered their outstanding pastures in the contest, and community committee members estimated that the number will probably be twice that this year judging by the interest shown by farmers generally in the first contest. Edgar Leet won first place in last year's event.

Will Select Judges

To promote the idea of pasture improvement those who enter the contest can secure additional lime and fertilizer through the regular program by which the farmer pays a share of the cost and the remainder is paid by grant from the government.

Judges for the contest are to be selected in the near future and they will begin their selection about the middle of July. The judges will take into consideration for scoring the management of the pasture area, the quality of the pasture herbage, the effect of the pasture in reducing grain requirements, and improvements gained by the application of lime, fertilizers and manure.

Next Wednesday members of the 210th will meet at 7:30 o'clock at the indoor firing range of the ROTC at Gettysburg college where they will do preliminary firing on the 22 caliber range. The following Wednesday the members will fire for record.

Plans to participate in the July 4 parade were also announced at Wednesday's session by the commanding officer, Col. E. J. Nowicki.

EX-COMMANDER OF USWV DIES

Arthur M. Myers, 74, 408 North Franklin street, Hanover, a veteran of the Spanish-American War and an organizer and first commander of Hanover post, No. 2506, Veterans of Foreign Wars, died at 9:35 o'clock Tuesday night in the Veterans Administration hospital, Wilmington, Del., according to word received by Mrs. Myers.

In ill health for the past eleven years, Mr. Myers was removed in the Hanover Fire company ambulance to the veterans' hospital last Thursday.

Enlisting on April 17, 1899, Mr. Myers served in Companies C and H, 5th Regiment, U. S. Infantry, and saw action in Cuba for fifteen months and in the Philippine Islands for 21 months. He was discharged May 28, 1902.

Besides his affiliation with the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Mr. Myers was a past commander of the Sgt. William Steffy Camp, No. 126, Veterans of the Spanish-American War, Gettysburg, and a member of the Fraternal Order of Beavers. He was a member of Grace Reformed church.

Mr. Myers was a son of the late Fred and Amanda Myers. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Elsie B. Eckman Myers; two stepchildren, Mrs. Elwood Morgan, Tunkhannock, and Robert A. Beck, Kenner, La.; two step grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs. Martha Wilson and Mrs. Bertha Mack, Wormleysburg.

Military services will be in charge of the Hanover V.F.W. post. Participating in the rites will be all honorary members of the Sgt. Steffy post. Officiating will be his pastor, the Rev. William H. Banks. Interment will be in Mt. Carmel cemetery, Littlestown.

JUDITH COPLON WILL TESTIFY

Washington, June 16 (AP)—Judith Coplon is ready to take the witness stand to deny she ever engaged in espionage activity.

As the time drew near today for the tiny blonde to become her own star witness, she told reporters: "I am confident of my vindication and that when I take the stand my innocence will be proved."

Defense Attorney Archibald Palmer said he expects Miss Coplon to complete her story—a denial of "any wrongdoing of any kind or character"—in about two hours. Cross-examination will follow.

The time of her appearance on the stand depends on how much time Palmer takes in questioning Raymond P. Wheary, one of the prosecutors, who used to call the defendant "Judy" when she worked for the Justice Department.

Miss Coplon, 28, a former Justice Department political analyst, already has sworn—but not before the jury—that "I am innocent of the crimes charged against me in this indictment, and I will ever maintain this."

She made this denial in an affidavit filed in connection with an unsuccessful defense move to prevent the government from using papers found in her purse when she was arrested with a Russian, as evidence in the trial.

DOUBTS URANIUM HAS BEEN FOUND

Washington, June 16 (AP)—Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) questioned today whether the Argonne atomic laboratory actually has located the container which held the uranium-235 lost from the lab last February. He said there still is "substantial mystery" about the whole affair.

Hickenlooper told the Senate-House Atomic committee that lab officials have come forward with an ordinary fruit jar, saying it was the container. But all prior reports, the Senator declared, were that the uranium-235 was kept in a brown bottle.

Dr. Walter H. Zinn, director of the lab at Chicago, said there was no doubt about it—that "completely and absolutely" the jar had contained the missing material. He said the FBI concurs in that opinion.

Hickenlooper took up the case of the missing uranium in pressing his charge of "incredible mismanagement" against the Atomic Energy commission. He has demanded that AEC Chairman David E. Lilienthal resign.

Seagraves, and Lester E. Noel, both of New Oxford, R. 2, and Richard B. Wiseman, Abbottstown, R. 1. The group will receive assignment at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

Declares ERP May Be A "Bad Risk"

Washington, June 16 (AP)—Paul Hoffman, the head man in the European Recovery Program, thinks it may have to be labeled a "bad risk" unless western Europe quickly breaks down its trade barriers.

The economic cooperation administrator gave his views yesterday to the Senate Appropriations committee.

He said the big and expensive program of U. S. aid cannot possibly succeed unless Europe speeds up economic cooperation, and added that by next spring he will be able to report whether the program has been a "good or bad risk."

The committee asked him to return this afternoon to continue his testimony on recovery spending.

"The real answer to whether Europe is coming through," Hoffman expanded to reporters, "lies in whether she will go a long way to reduce trade barriers in the coming year."

PLAN NEXT MAY 30

Borough police today continued their investigation of thefts reported Wednesday morning at four Gettysburg college fraternity houses, but said there were no new developments. Approximately $53 in money and a $25 pin were taken by a burglar who entered the fraternity houses while their residents were asleep.

STOCKS FAIL TO GAIN

New York, June 16 (AP)—A morning try for a higher price level failed to pay out in the stock market today. Gains still outweighed losses, but by a slim margin, after numerous early advances were trimmed or wiped out entirely. The undertone of the market, though, remained stable.

SEEK TO EASE TRAFFIC BUGS

Berlin, June 16 (AP)—Leaders of Berlin's anti-Communist rail strikers today were seeking way to settle east-west sector traffic problems.

Since the walkout on the Russian-controlled railways began May 21 with demands for full pay in west markets, union recognition and job security, western traffic has been stalled.

No trains have rolled into western yards since May 26 and the west sector elevated system is stagnant.

Strikers have turned down two compromise proposals and want to obtain their strike objectives. But they would like to ease the traffic bottleneck.

Heinz Bracht, union chairman, said the union is not only willing to handle interzonal trains, but to, set up an emergency elevated system.

Bracht said in the British-licensed Telegraf that the west Berlin population could "not be expected to suffer from the elevated situation any longer."

West Berliners now jam the underground trains, clung onto autos and trucks or walk.

Softball League Sets July 6 As Tentative Date To Start Games Under Lighting System

Installation of the lighting system at the Community Softball league in the recreation field is expected to be started later this week, it was announced at a league meeting Wednesday evening in the recreation room of the First National bank.

Tentative arrangements call for the inauguration of night games on Wednesday, July 6, when a dedication program will be held.

Johnny Knox, president of the league, appointed a committee to arrange for the dedication program. The committee, in addition to Mr. Knox, consists of Paul Whitmoyer, recreation director, George Bushman and Don Bream.

The lighting system will cost slightly over $2,000 and will be one of the best systems available. It will include 13 poles with four reflectors each erected 40 feet from the ground.

In an effort to secure an immediate working fund it was decided to issue honorary membership tickets for the Softball association at $1 each. The tickets are not for admission to games but will be solely contributions by interested persons helping the league meet its heavy expenses. Within the next few days honorary membership tickets will be available and may be purchased from members of the eight league teams.

Charles H. Huber, secretary, reported that $1,500 in $100 loans had been received or promised to the organization.

Managers of teams were requested to secure the contributions of $1 each from the players as soon as possible and turn them over to the league.

It was revealed that next week additional wire will be stretched along the first and third base lines, only players being permitted within the enclosure. Plans were initiated for the addition of more bleachers.

Yesterday's Sports in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Boxing

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)

Wilmington evidently didn't like those two straight interstate league defeats at the hands of the second place Trenton Giants. At any rate the league leaders landed with a vengeance on three Trenton pitchers for a 20 to 2 victory last night. The win increased Wilmington's first place edge to 4½ games.

Three Trenton left-handers—Armand Falconi, Les Kleisz and Harry Desmuke—tried vainly to puzzle the heavy hitting Blue Stockings. Falconi and Kleisz issued 11 walks between them in the first four and two-thirds innings. Desmuke ave up 15 hits in finishing the game.

Harrisburg spotted last place Sunbury six runs in the first inning and then rallied for an 11-8 victory. The win hoisted the Senators into third place. A pair of three run homers by Bill Forbes and Lee Carey evened the score in the second inning.

Allentown, which finally licked Lancaster Tuesday after six previous futile efforts showed it hadn't forgotten how by topping the Red Sox 6 to 4 and taking over fifth place. York fell into sixth place as right hander Gene Major twirled a two hit shutout for Hagerstown. The final score was 4 to 0.

The 1909 Pittsburgh Pirates, who won 119 games, hold the major league record for games won in a season.

FEW CHANGES AS TRADING ENDS

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

"Win for Waitkus" has become the new battle cry of the "fightin' Phillies" of Philadelphia.

Shocked by the shooting of Eddie Waitkus, the star Philly first baseman, his teammates were determined today to do their best to boost the morale of the stricken athlete. Waitkus was shot and seriously wounded by a girl fan in a hotel room early yesterday.

"I'm sure a batch of Philly victories would hasten Ed's recovery as much as any medicine," a member of the club said yesterday. "And that's what we aim to do."

The Phillies wasted no time in carrying out their promise. They swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 4-1 and 3-0, to move into a virtual tie with Boston for third place in the tight National League race.

Behind Three Games

The twin triumph gave the Phils a four-game winning streak and a record of 10 victories in their last 13 games. They trail the first place Brooklyn Dodgers by only three games.

Kenny Heintzelman and Hank Bowdy, a pair of castoffs, allowed only one run between them as each gave up only five hits. Del Ennis furnished the batting punch, driving in a pair of runs in each game. He collected a double and triple in the opener, and a pair of two-baggers in the nightcap. Dick Sisler, subbing for Waitkus, collected three hits.

The Dodgers' eight-game winning streak came to an end last night when the St. Louis Cardinals whopped them, 9-5, and cut their first place margin over the Redbirds to two games. Nippy Jones enjoyed his biggest day in the Majors with a perfect four-for-four. He smashed a home run, two singles and a double to bat in six runs.

Pirates Beat Braves

Pittsburgh's Pirates duplicated Tuesday's feat by coming from behind with a four-run rally in the last of the ninth to nip the Braves, 8-7. Danny Murtaugh's single off Bobby Hogue drove in the tying and winning runs with two out in the ninth, but Dino Restelli, a rookie outfielder, took Pittsburgh batting honors with two homers and a single. The Giants were rained out at Cincinnati.

The American League leading New York Yankees opened up a four-game lead over Detroit, whipping the Chicago White Sox, 9-4, while the Tigers were losing a 2-1 game to Philadelphia. Cleveland sunk the Boston Red Sox deeper into a rut, dubbing the Sox 8-5, and Washington stayed in fifth place shutting out the St. Louis Browns, 9-0.

Colonel E. E. Davis Camp Officially Opened: Official ceremonies opening the Col. E. E. Davis camp, located on the Wheatfield, as the headquarters for all companies and regiments of the Sons of Veterans Reserves, were held Sunday afternoon. A crowd of 700 persons witnessed the services on the battlefield.

Mrs. Hazel Weikert and Mrs.
George Hughes, of the Ladies Auxiliary, Camp 112, of Gettysburg, presented a flag to Colonel Edwin John Prittle, of Philadelphia, state commander of the Sons of Veterans Reserves, to mark the formal opening of the encampment.

County Girl Is Married: A marriage of much interest to a large cir-

of Miss Belva Alice Fohl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Fohl, of Biglerville, and to Paul Amos Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Hutchinson, of New Holland, which took place at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening in the Reformed parsonage at Arendtsville. The Rev. Murray E.
Neiss officiated.

Stowaway Aboard Yellow Bird: Comillas, Spain, June 15:—The giant French monoplane Yellow Bird successfully completed the eighth eastward crossing of the North Atlantic ocean Friday night but was forced down on the rough beach at Comillas because an American boy had done what experts said was "impossible" and stowed away on the craft. The Yellow Bird landed on the beach 25 miles west of Santander at 9 p. m., after a flight of approximately 3,475 miles in almost 30 hours.

Jean Assolant, pilot of the plane,
jumped from the cabin, holding Arthur Schreiber, of Portland, Maine,
by the collar. The American youth had hidden himself on the big craft shortly before it took off from the beach of Old Orchard, Maine, Thursday morning. The Rev. Murray E.
Neiss officiated.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TOO MANY DISLIKES

I know I am sincere in stating that I have far more dislikes than dislikes.
And I take pride in emphasizing these likes. I prefer to say kind things about people whom I know. I like to talk about my good fortunes rather than my misfortunes.

People with too many dislikes often end up by disliking themselves, and their friends (if they have any) as well.
What a damper is put upon what ought to be good talk, when a person says: "I don't like it," or "I don't like him." We may even think the same as that other person, but we can remain silent if our expression can serve no good. There are so many likes to talk about. And to express them inspires others to the same liking.

We like to be with people who have a multitude of likes that associate with our own. I like to talk with a lover of books, of art, or of nature.
I am thus stimulated in mind and spirit. And how easy it is, and so much pleasanter, to talk about our likes rather than our dislikes.

I often think of an incident that Archibald Rutledge tells about in one of his books, of visiting a friend. Noting some flowers in a special place upon the mantle, he inquired why his hostess had so placed them, and why that particular variety? Her reply was: "They 'minds me of God.'" How many of us can say that same about the things we love, that they "minds" us of God.

We ought to express our likes more and oftener, if for no other purpose than to shame those who are forever giving expression to their dislikes, and giving them a lesson which may result in a change of mind and heart. Our tastes are varied, and it is well that they are,
but we gain nothing by condemning the likes of another, nor by advertising our own dislikes.

There are likes and dislikes in doing,
too. There are those who dislike all work, who dislike books, and who dislike to take orders from one in a higher position. But many of our dislikes are essential! Life isn't all pleasant sailing. There is many a storm, and many a squall, and we are expected to handle each in good heart, without complaint.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Small Space."

Just Folks

THE FORGOTTEN MAXIMS

"See a pin and let it lie, You'll come to want before you die."
Can sixty years have flown away
Since that I heard my mother say?

"A penny saved, a penny earned."
Twas from my father that I learned.

This was his great concern for me:
That thrifty I should grow to be.

When I was but a youngster small,
Upon my granddad's workshop wall
I used to read in letters bold
A card which "Waste not; want not!" told.

Old-fashioned mottoes, one and all,
With counsel wise that I recall;
True now, as then, but all the lot
Today discarded or forgot.

COMMUNISTS KNOW THEY'RE ON DEFENSIVE

Washington, June 16 (P)—State

Lighting Victim Loses Compensation

Harrisburg, June 16 (P)—A Clearfield county man who lived to tell that he was struck by a bolt of lightning lost an appeal today for state workmen's compensation benefits.

The Workmen's Compensation Board turned down a claim filed by Earl Walburn, Grampian lumber worker, against H. F. Siegworth, Lickingville, Clarion county, his former employer.

Walburn said he was struck by lightning two years ago while riding a horse to work. His claim hinged on whether his horse was owned by himself or Siegworth.

The board found that although the employer hired the horse for use at a logging camp, Walburn had been the owner of the horse. It found that the strange accident did not occur on the employer's property.

Speculate On Next Phase

Officials here took an interested look at the defensive nature of this declaration. They said that this, coupled with the charge that the United States is trying to "poison"
working classes with American ideas, indicates the Soviet-led Cominform is deeply concerned over the West's success to date in fighting Communism.

They speculated that this concern
now dominates top Communist thinking in contrast with an earlier Communist preoccupation with expansion of their own power and influence. If this analysis is correct, it may mark a switch in Communist tactics in Europe—from primary emphasis on expansion westward to a new stress on holding the line in Eastern Europe.

This view of what the Communists themselves may believe is in accord with official American estimates of the cold war struggle. According to these, the next phase of the battle between Western influences and Soviet Communism—apart from Germany—may well lie in Eastern Europe, with Yugoslavia providing the initial testing ground.

FORMER MAYOR OF READING DIES

Reading, Pa., June 16 (P)—J.

Henry Stump, three times Socialist mayor of Reading, died yesterday at his home. He was 69.

Stump, first elected mayor in 1927
and re-named in 1935 and 1943, returned home Wednesday from the Reading hospital, which he entered several weeks ago with a throat ailment.

He was a member of the Socialist party for more than 50 years and held numerous offices in the organization. The former mayor also was active in the labor movement. He volunteered his services as a union organizer when he was a member of the Cigarmakers union (AFL).

When he was first elected mayor or he resigned the presidency of the Federated Trades council—a position he held for more than 12 years.

Stump first ran for public office in 1911 when he sought a seat in the common council of Reading. He was defeated for a seat in the Lower House of the General Assembly and for mayor in 1919 and 1923 before scoring his first political victory in the 1927 mayoralty election.

A cigar maker by trade, Stump also was a shoe salesman, promotion manager of a soft drink company and business manager of the Labor Advocate between his terms as mayor.

IS FAMOUS DAD HELP, HINDRANCE TO SON'S CAREER

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

All America is watching with intense interest the advent of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Junior, into national politics, and not a few are wondering just what it means to a young man to follow in the footsteps of a famous father. Is it an advantage to the son or a handicap?

Years ago in England I put that rather searching question to my good friend, the late Sir Austen Chamberlain. He then was British Foreign Secretary and had written his name indelibly into history as a prime mover in, and a signatory of, the Locarno Treaty of Peace in 1925.

Sir Austen was son of the noted statesman Joseph ("Joe") Chamberlain. He also was brother of Neville who, as Prime Minister, later tried the unhappy experiment of appeasing Hitler—an experiment which your columnist witnessed at close range, having followed the Prime Minister to the conferences of Berchtesgaden, Godesberg, and, finally, Munich. You will note that one brother was fortunate and the other encountered disaster.

A Help At First

I was spending the day with Sir Austen at his country home when I broached the question of how the fame of a father affected a son at the beginning of the latter's career. The Foreign Secretary smiled reminiscently, as he looked back more than a generation to his start in political life, and then replied in effect:

At the outset, of course, the father's position is of great help to the son. It provides the young man an entree which he might not otherwise have. It gives him useful friendships at a most trying period of his career. These things he gets because he is his father's son.

However, all that soon changes. His political associates unconsciously begin to measure him against the stature of his father. They look for far more from the young man than he should be expected to deliver with his lack of experience. Thus faults which might be overlooked in another apprentice are logged down against the son of the famous man.

Finally A Handicap

On the whole, Sir Austen thought, it was a severe handicap in the political world for a young man to have a noted father. Obviously he had overcome that handicap magnificently.

Whether this theory applies equally to big business isn't easy to answer.

So far as concerns the political world there are many who will agree

No Progress In Bluefield Talks

Bluefield, W. Va., June 16 (AP)—Southern soft coal producers had made no visible progress today toward a new contract with John L. Lewis' union to replace the one which expires in just two weeks.

The United Mine Workers yesterday challenged the southerners' so-called "must" proposals for any new contract. But there has been no indication that the union has yet made any proposals of its own.

Secrecy was the rule after yesterday's three-hour bargaining session. President Joseph E. Moody of the Southern Coal Producers association and UMW Secretary-Treasurer John Owens, the respective spokesmen, refused to talk about what took place.

The union reportedly insisted, however, that all of the operators' demands should be open to negotiation and challenged their right to tag any of them as "musts."

Drowns Trying To Rescue Grandson, 6

Newfoundland, Pa., June 16 (AP)—A 56-year-old grandmother drowned Tuesday in a futile attempt to rescue her six-year-old grandson, Conner Vernon Walsh reported.

The Wayne county coroner identified the victims as Mrs. Ethel Baisley, of Newfoundland, Pa., and Lawrence Hadden, son of Mrs. Erma Hadden, Honesdale, Pa.

Walsh said nobody saw the accident and theorized the youngster stepped into a deep pool while wading in the Paupack river and the grandmother drowned attempting to rescue him. He issued a verdict of accidental drowning.

Eddie Arcaro and Earl Sande both have piloted Suburban winners at Belmont Park three times.

With Sir Austen Chamberlain's conclusion that in the long run son must fight his own battles. Now comes F. D. R., Jr., to try his luck on that basis.

"CINDERELLA" VISITS MOTHER

Windber, Pa., June 16 (AP)—A visit from her Cinderella daughter and wealthy socialite son-in-law didn't phase Mrs. Steve Turk. She was out on the lawn yesterday hanging clothes as usual.

The visitors were tall, willowy Stephana Saja Hitchcock, 24, and husband, Francis Hitchcock. It was the first trip home for the western Pennsylvania Cinderella who eloped to a little town in Georgia with Hitchcock.

Stephana said she was glad to be home and visit with her mother and coal-miner stepfather. She pitched right in and helped with the cooking.

Hitchcock, clad in a white shirt, slacks and moccasins, said he didn't know just how long the visit would last.

"It's very pleasant," he said, adding "in fact we're going to look around for a house somewhere in the vicinity of Windber."

EX-TEST PILOT NOW PREACHES FROM AIRPLANE

Lock Haven, Pa., June 16 (P)—A 42-year-old former test pilot, turned preacher, is planning to use an airplane as his pulpit.

Curt J. Wetzel, who assists at the first Baptist church here, has rigged out a two-seater plane with a sound system to broadcast his message from the air. Wetzel said he plans to glide over the country side this summer and "deliver a few remarks where ever I see a crowd gathered."

"It is amazing how well the sound carries from the air," Wetzel said. "Of course, if it is windy or the weather is bad that gum's things up a little. I made a few experimental trips over a nearby town recently," Wetzel said, "played the 'Old Rugged Cross' and a few other selections, and a good many persons reported hearing the music as clear as a bell."

Glider And Goes To Work

Wetzel's plane has a powerful 16-inch loudspeaker attached to the bottom of the fuselage. The plane also has a turn-table pickup for records to permit playing of religious music. The system is powered by a storage battery.

When he sees a crowd, Wetzel said, he puts the plane into an easy circling glide at about 1,000 feet, slows the motor, and goes into action.

Wetzel said that in addition to using the plane for delivering brief sermons, he also will deliver church announcements and appear at religious gatherings in various communities in this central Pennsylvania area.

Has Assistant

A young student minister Wes Goshorn, of Lock Haven, will assist Wetzel in operating the sound equipment in the plane.

Wetzel, who has been flying practically all his life, was a former test pilot for the Piper Aircraft corporation here. During the war, he served as an army flight instructor.

He said he had "an urge" all his life to enter the ministry, and after the war he decided to make it his life work. He completed his theological studies at the Bob Jones University, Greenville, S. C., where he taught 30 student missionaries how to fly.

Wetzel said he is now awaiting his formal license as a Baptist minister. He is married and has four children.

Stalemate In Wage Dispute Continues

State College, Pa., June 16 (P)—Contractors and AFL-carpenters continued in a stalemate today on a wage dispute that has stalled nearly $20,000,000 in construction in this vicinity.

The contractors renewed an offer of a 15 cents an hour increase to the carpenters yesterday but a union spokesman said it was "unsatisfactory." The union has been seeking a boost from $1.75 to $2 an hour.

The carpenters left their jobs June 1 after a contract expired. Some 400 men have been idle since then. Other trades have continued to work.

EBERHARTER ASSAIS BAR

Washington, June 16 (P)—Rep. Eberhardt (D-Pa.) accused the American Bar association today of calling him "unfit" for a federal judgeship "without even knowing me, approaching me, or hearing any defense."

Eberhardt's nomination by President Truman to be a federal judge for the western Pennsylvania district has been opposed by the Association's Judiciary committee. The congressman said the committee's attempt to "indict" him was "done in open defiance of each of their separate oaths and obligations to support and defend the constitution and its rights, if not also in violation of the ethics to which they profess to adhere so firmly."

Eberhardt made his statement to a Senate Judiciary subcommittee which is considering his nomination. Senator Myers (D-Pa.) described Eberhardt to the committee as an outstanding member of Congress whose legal ability and sincere concern for the public welfare would make him a fair and conscientious judge.

Myers told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee that Eberhardt, through his own hard-working efforts, put himself through college and law school and rose to be one of the most highly respected members of the House.

The Pennsylvania senior Senator was one of a group of congressmen and western Pennsylvania lawyers who came to the hearing to support President Truman's nomination of Eberhardt to be a U. S. District judge in the western Pennsylvania district.

SEEK TO CHECK OLD MINE FIRE

Harrisburg, June 16 (P)—The three-year-old underground mine fire at Mt. Carmel today underwent a new survey by the state Mines department to determine how it can be brought under control.

Richard Maize, mines secretary, said yesterday he had directed state mine inspectors to make a new investigation to see if the underground flames can be checked without razing eight or 10 homes in the immediate area.

"When I first visited the scene years ago," Maize said, "the fire was burning fiercely and wickedly but when I was up there two weeks ago, all you could see was steam."

Maize added that he has been in touch with the U. S. Bureau of Mines to learn if federal authorities would share in the cost.

J. J. Forbes, director of the mine safety division, told him by telephone, he said, that "the government didn't have the money now and would not have any until the next fiscal year."

He added that Forbes estimated that the cost would be $300,000 to control the fire by digging a trench and backfilling with clay. This would require razing the dwellings in the vicinity.

Check Barley for Smut

R. S. Kirby, extension plant pathologist of the Pennsylvania State college, reports loose smut in barley more prevalent than for many years, and urges farmers to get fall seed supplies from disease-free sources if their own stands contain more than five per cent infection. Barley grown from seed treated during the last year or two will be safe for planting.

DDT Kills Corn Borers—Use of DDT on sweet corn for control of corn borers has proved 95 per cent effective, reports E. J. Udine, extension entomologist of the Pennsylvania State college. The treatment must be applied as dust or spray when egg masses begin to appear on the leaves. This is usually just ahead of the tasseling stage.

Lights Add to Safety—Proper lighting on the farm is an added safety measure. Hazardous corners will be less dangerous if all lights and switches are conveniently located.

Aids to Farm Repairs—C. H. Bingham, Penn State extension agricultural engineer, says oxy-acetylene welding outfits come in handy for making home repairs on the farm.

Lock Haven Woman To Head Eastern Star

Philadelphia, June 16 (P)—Mrs. Theresa Teah, of Lock Haven, today is Pennsylvania's new grand worthy matron of the Grand Chapter, Order of Eastern Star.

Mrs. Teah succeeded Mrs. Beulah Albright, of Upper Darby, as head of Pennsylvania's 497 chapters with 100,000 members.

The grand worthy matron-elect and other officers for the ensuing year were installed at the Grand

NOTES ON BRUSSELS SPROUTS

Brussels sprouts should be stressed in both the early and late vegetable garden, with particular emphasis on growing an ample planting in the late garden because the tender sprouts (like miniature heads of cabbage) are actually improved in texture and flavor by light fall frosts. Here is a crop that is often omitted from the home garden, yet it is unexcelled among hardy vegetables. Culture is quite simple, even for beginners.

For the final crop in this latitude, seed should be sown in a box or sunny outdoor bed or frame in late June or the first week in July. If the tiny seedlings are pricked out by roots and shifted to plant bands or pots, final transplanting can be made without molesting the roots and thus losing several days in stagnated growth. Or seeds may be sown directly in small pots or bands and later thinned to one plant to a container. From 30 to 35 days are required for plants to reach transplanting size from date of sowing seed.

Of course, if the small gardener can locate a commercial source of plants, he need not bother with growing them from seed. However, no risks should be incurred by hitting or-miss dependence on plant supplies. Well rooted plants should be set out from early August to the first week in September for the late crop, with transplanting scheduled for the first two weeks of August for safety. Set plants 16 to 18 inches apart in rows 30 to 36 inches wide. Rows may be no more than 24 inches wide for hand tillage in the home garden.

If the soil is deeply mellow and plenty of well rotted manure was turned under earlier in the season for another vegetable, no additional manure will be needed by late Brussels sprouts. But a complete fertilizer is advised, something near a 6-8-6 strength, broadcast and worked into the top soil before plants are set out. If rows are 36 inches wide, the fertilizer may be worked into the top soil in a strip 12 inches wide before transplanting, preferably at the rate of 1 to 1½ pounds to every 100 square feet.

Irrigation should be practiced whenever the soil is dry in order to keep plants growing steadily in late summer. If growth slows down somewhat, one or two side dressings with nitrate of soda pays big dividends in hastened growth and better yields. This should be worked lightly into the soil on each side of the row so the plant food does not come into ### direct contact with roots, stems or foliage. One pound to 75 to 100 or more plants will be plenty.

Watch closely for the light green cabbage aphids and kill it as soon as plants are infested. Black Leaf 40 as a spray in soapy water will control these pests. The green cabbage worm should be combated with rotenone as a spray or dust.

The cabbage-like sprouts form along the stalk. If harvested with a sharp knife, taking the lower and older sprouts first, production will continue for several weeks. A few of the lower leaves should be removed to make room for the sprouts. Light frosts, as already mentioned, improve the crop's tenderness and flavor, but of course, late crops should be protected from hard freezes. Laden plants may be stored in shaded coldframe and the sprouts utilized as needed for a month or longer in late fall.

TWELVE SINS OF GARDENING

At a garden club meeting last summer the discussion turned to gardening sins—the worst mistakes commonly made by growers of vegetables and ornamental plants. Finally it was decided that twelve errors covered the most critical sins. A few months later a national gardening magazine published a list of twelve gardening mistakes. The members of the garden club were amused as well as proud to find they had selected 10 of the 12. Below we discuss the sins which the club members voted most serious:

1. Sprinkling. The habit of sprinkling lawns or flowers or vegetables lightly every night or two often brings more injury than benefit. Deficient supplies of moisture thereby furnished attract feeder insects.

2. Deep cultivation. There is a false idea that some strange benefit comes from cultivation besides removal of grass and weeds. Many persons cultivate so deeply that numerous feeder roots are damaged. Of course, surface crusts should be broken whenever they form, but in no case should cultivation be deeper than one inch.

3. Delayed combat of insects. One example must suffice. Plant lice multiply rapidly. It is quite easy to kill them off when they first arrive. But if combat is delayed until the lice are numerous, not only will the plant be more seriously weakened, but extermination is often impossible.

4. Carelessness with plant diseases. Diseased leaves, twigs and other portions of plants removed after infection appears should be promptly gathered and burned.

5. Using 2,4-D carelessly. The fumes from this spray will kill most broad-leaved plants several yards away. Apply this chemical when the air is still; cover nearby plants with paper.

6. Removing long stems with cut flowers. Roses, lilies, peonies, and most other cut flowers should not include more than a few leaves, else the plant may cease further blooming.

7. Watering plants in the evening. Excessive dampness invites mildews and other fungous ills. Water during sunny hours.

8. Top-dressing lawn with manure. Almost all livestock manures contain valuable seed weeds. There is no more certain way to pollute the lawn with weeds than this practice.

If lawns need plant foods, apply in the form of commercial fertilizers.

9. Feeding and watering trees up near the base. Trees have few feeders.

10. Applying lime to drive moss from lawns. Moss is usually evidence of depleted plant foods. Lime will not cure the condition, as it is not strictly a plant food. Moss will grow in a sweet (alkaline) soil as quickly as in an acid soil if there is a shortage of nourishment. Fertilizer, not lime, is the cure.

11. Over-fertilization. Plants can be over-fed the same as a child. Conservative use of plant foods is the proper and safer course.

12. Substituting fertilizers for fertilizer. Fertilizers serve most beneficially where the soil is otherwise fertile and well balanced with organic matter. Commercial fertilizers will not take the place of natural fertility or correct poor drainage, shallowness or other soil defects.

TO TRAIN FARM YOUTH

State College, Pa., June 16 (P)—Farm boys and girls from nearly every 4-H club in the state will gather here June 20 for a four-day course in leadership training. More than 200 have enrolled for the course sponsored by the extension service of the Pennsylvania State college.

Harrisburg, June 16 (P)—A Harrisburg trucker told the Dauphin county court that union picketing is costing his firm up to $500 a day.

Joseph Garner, president of the Central Storage and Transfer Co., made the assertion Monday in asking the court for an injunction against the picketing.

Garner testified that about 200,000 pounds of freight and from $400 to $500 a day in business is being lost by his company as a result of the picket line.

er roots up near the trunk. These are located in the soil perpendicular to the tips of the longest branches. To nourish trees or to supply them with moisture, make the applications out beneath these limb tips—that's where the feeder roots are.

10. Applying lime to drive moss from lawns. Moss is usually evidence of depleted plant foods. Lime will not cure the condition, as it is not strictly a plant food. Moss will grow in a sweet (alkaline) soil as quickly as in an acid soil if there is a shortage of nourishment. Fertilizer, not lime, is the cure.

11. Over-fertilization. Plants can be over-fed the same as a child. Conservative use of plant foods is the proper and safer course.

12. Substituting fertilizers for fertilizer. Fertilizers serve most beneficially where the soil is otherwise fertile and well balanced with organic matter. Commercial fertilizers will not take the place of natural fertility or correct poor drainage, shallowness or other soil defects.

TRUMAN HOLDS UNEMPLOYMENT NOT CRITICAL

Washington, June 16 (P)—President Truman said today he does not regard present unemployment as critical.

His statement was in reply to a news conference question. The President added that the administration's viewpoint on unemployment will be expressed in an economic message now being prepared for Congress. This report probably will go to the capitol in three or four weeks.

Mr. Truman presumably referred to his regular twice-yearly economic report.

Was Reuther Topic

The latest Census Bureau report shows 3,239,000 persons are now out of work and looking for jobs.

The question of unemployment was raised by a reporter who asked about Mr. Truman's conference yesterday with Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers.

Reuther had told reporters on leaving the White House that the administration was aware of the unemployment situation and would attack the problem aggressively.

In Cleveland today, Reuther called for an immediate national conference to halt what he said appears to be a looming depression.

EX-HEARST OFFICIAL DIES

Norway, Mich., June 16 (P)—Horace Guck, 71, former Hearst newspaper executive and one-time publisher and president of the old Chicago Herald-Examiner, died of a heart attack at a hospital here yesterday.

roots toward the soil surface where they may be injured later by the sun. One soaking (two to four inches deep) a week in dry weather is far better than seven sprinklings.

CONGRESS MAY ASK TRUMAN TO MAKE COST CUT

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 16 (AP)—"Aw, let Harry do it."

Congress may wind up saying that after talking big for six months about cutting government expenses.

It has an obligation to do any cutting that is done, but it's in a mood now to shove the job off on President Truman.

Last January Mr. Truman told Congress how much money would be needed to run the government for the fiscal year starting July 1. (Those figures, checked over by the experts of the Budget Bureau whose job is to cut where they can, were put together by the various government departments and agencies.)

After Mr. Truman outlined the money needed, the department heads started a long parade to the Capitol. There, one by one, they sat down with the appropriations committees to give their reasons for asking this or that money.

The members of the appropriations committees are really the watchdogs of the American people over what money the government spends.

Only Talks So Far

And it's their job to make cuts if they think less money is needed than is asked for. Then the committees draw up bills for the full House and Senate to vote on. The bills say just how much the appropriations committees think each department or agency needs.

Since the committee members are the lawmakers who know most about government spending, the full House and Senate generally follow their advice pretty closely.

For months there's been a steady chorus in Congress about cutting down expenses. But so far, it's just been talk. The congressmen and senators don't seem able to agree on what or where to cut.

And when anyone has suggested lopping a flat five per cent or so off the money for some department, he's been shouted down.

Not Simple Solution

Still, there was a feeling that expenses ought to be cut.

This week 19 senators, Democrats and Republicans, decided to offer a resolution in Congress that would do this: Tell the President to find some way to cut five to 10 per cent off the total money voted by Congress to run the government for the fiscal year starting July 1.

That might sound like a simple solution. It isn't. First of all, the departments and the Budget Bureau feel the figure Mr. Truman asked for already has been cut to the bone.

Harrisburg, June 16 (AP)—The machinery of the state's new highway and bridge authority is ready to roll today toward its goal of financing $40,000,000 of road building on the installment plan. At a meeting here Tuesday, the agency named the firm of Morgan, Lewis and Bockius, of Philadelphia, as special counsel to represent the interests of prospective bond purchasers.

YOUNG HANOVER FLIER KILLED

Villanova, Pa., June 16 (AP)—Lawrence B. Sheppard, Jr., 26-year-old assistant general manager of the Hanover Shoe company, Hanover, Pa., was killed yesterday in the flaming crash of his plane which struck high tension wires on a take-off.

He was the son of Lawrence B. Sheppard, Jr., general manager of the firm and the world-famous Hanover Shoe farms, where trotting and pacing horses are bred and trained. His grandfather, H. B. Sheppard, is one of the founders of the shoe firm and president of the Hanover Evening Sun newspaper.

The plane crashed in flames near the Pennsylvania railroad tracks a few minutes after noon, as young Sheppard took off after an emergency landing. The AT-6 craft, a wartime air force trainer, was destroyed.

Sheppard had landed in a cornfield yesterday morning while flying from New York to Harrisburg. On the takeoff witnesses said he swerved the plane to avoid a row of trees and crashed as the motor sputtered and failed. It was nearly two hours after the crash before the pilot's body was removed and his identity established from papers in his wallet.

The accident caused a power failure that interrupted briefly service on one of the four PRR main line tracks.

Harrisburg, June 16 (AP)—Pennsylvania's peach crop this year is expected to be smaller than that of last year, but the cherry crop will be larger. A Federal-State crop report released by the State Agricultural department showed that first estimates of the peach crop total 2,166,000 bushels, or 16,000 less than last year's better-than-average crop.

Federal Reserve Board Says Modest Price Cut Might Start Sales Booming

DECIDE PEOPLE HAVE MONEY AND DESIRE TO BUY

YANKS NOW 'PRISONERS' OF GERMANS

By HAL BOYLE

Berlin, June 16 (AP)—Americans in Germany have in some ways become the prisoners of the conquered.

They are suffering, to a degree at least, the fate of all occupation powers through history—the fate of becoming a captive of the people they captured.

But the Americans are being captured on a cultural and household level rather than on a military level, by German music, beer and servants rather than by the theories of Clausewitz.

Unless they've changed their minds in the past 2½ months, the American people have both the money and the desire for record quantities of goods—but at some lower prices.

Demand Is Greater

Washington, June 16 (AP)—Modest price cuts might be all this country needs to start sales booming again. That was the surprising simple implication of a Federal Reserve Board survey of consumer buying prospects for the January 5-March 5 period. Announced yesterday, it boils down to this:

Unless they've changed their minds in the past 2½ months, the American people have both the money and the desire for record quantities of goods—but at some lower prices.

Demand Is Greater

The finding: Out of 52,000,000 families, 3,800,000 intended to buy new cars and 1,900,000 wanted used cars at costs averaging $2,000 and $710 respectively—an overall average of $1,800.

Houses? More prospective buyers here, too, than a year ago—some two to three million of them—and they were resigned to higher costs: an average of $8,200 against the 1948 prospects' $7,500.

More than 1,000,000 of the 1948 prospects wanted new houses—which is more new houses than will be completed this year. The demand was heaviest for "moderately-priced houses of acceptable quality."

Television sets? Probably twice as many prospects as last year—maybe around 1,400,000 or so in all.

Some Demands Off

For other durable goods—furniture, household appliances, and the like—buying intentions were "slightly weaker early in 1949 than early in 1948," but the "indicated decline was small."

The big question remaining, of course, is whether buyers have undergone a sweeping change of attitude since their marked optimism of early March.

The Reserve Board said there could be no sure answer to that now, but it commented:

"The present situation would appear to highlight the need for more aggressive merchandising programs on the part of many manufacturers, distributors and retailers to tap the latent consumer demand."

About one and a quarter million farms in the United States produce wheat.

The senior year for Mrs. Marion Mock Andrews (above) of Strow, Mass., was a little more difficult than it is for most people. She had to take time out from classes at Simmons college, Boston, to greet the stork. Mother made the grade, however, and son, Harold, attended her graduation, June 13. Here she holds twin prizes: Four-month-old Harold and her diploma.—(AP Wirephoto)

Grange Asks PUC To Suspend Rate Raise

Harrisburg, June 16 (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Grange wants the Public Utility Commission to suspend the proposed $2,240,000 rate increase of the Pennsylvania Power and Light company, of Allentown.

The complaint, filed by Joab K. Mahood, secretary, asked the PUC to initiate an investigation into the justness of the new rates. The request followed protests by 44 local granges and farmer organizations.

It charges that farmers would be increased more than others and that the rates would be increased from five to 26 per cent or more with larger consumers paying the higher rate.

The increase will become effective June 22 unless they are suspended by the commission. No action has been taken so far by the PUC.

Another Party

This week the correspondent group went to another party. The band played only two American tunes. The Americans sang and danced to German songs. No Russians attended the party, but there was a fra-lein or two there and several German men. The American wives danced gaily with the German men.

Living isn't so lush for Americans in Germany today as it was three years ago. But they can still live more cheaply here than they can at home in terms of parties and servants.

"What do things cost now at home—is the housing situation any better?" they ask.

'They Haven't Changed'

An intelligent wife said one of the most depressing things to her was the struggle for power that went on among German servants in her household.

"They'll do anything to each other, no matter how petty or cruel, to get a favored job," she said. "And they haven't in any way lost their desire to dominate."

"I have lived in Germany before and since the war. In all that time I have never met a German I felt like throwing my arms around and saying, 'you sweet old thing, you.' They aren't lovable and they haven't changed. And that gives me a hopeless feeling."

It isn't much fun to be a conqueror when the guns cease firing and you become a stranger in a land that doesn't want you.

Michigan State's track team this season won the IC4A triple crown—the cross-country, indoor and outdoor championships.

ment was issued Tuesday on the eve of a public hearing by the Senate-House atomic energy committee on Hickenlooper's charges. His position has been that the atomic agency failed to keep in touch with rising cost estimates. But the statement gave this version:

"Because of the urgency of the project, construction was begun as soon as the design was started. Drawings were put into construction immediately upon their individual completion. This involved much doing over and undoing which is typical of this emergency method of operation and was fully realized at the time."

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 16 (AP)—

Public sentiment is responsible for the change in American foreign policy in recent years, says Superior Court Judge John S. Fine. Judge Fine spoke at the closing session of the 24th annual conference of the Pennsylvania State Association of Township Commissioners.

HIGH HOPES FOR TRUCE IN EUROPE BY PARIS TALKS

Paris, June 16 (AP)—The Big Four Foreign Ministers today begin the final phase of their secret talks with hopes they may achieve at least a temporary east-west truce in Europe.

The ministers appeared determined to salvage from the month-long parley two broad agreements on the future of Berlin and Austria.

Settlement of the Berlin dispute would make it easier for the two sides to live together in a physical and economic—if not political—sense. The question of an Austrian peace treaty has been the subject of bickering for the past two years.

Rail Strike Up Today

British and French officials said they would make every effort to wind up their work by tonight, but American and Russian sources expressed doubt the talks would end before Saturday.

Before the ministers today will be the question of how they can help settle the complicated Berlin rail strike. They talked over the strike situation among themselves yesterday with no apparent results.

Some concrete arrangements for the future of Berlin are believed in sight, however. Those arrangements would look something like this. Both sides would promise not to reimpose any kind of trade or traffic restrictions into or out of Berlin. Both would agree to promote trade and commerce between the respective zones.

Top Russian and western representatives in Germany would be ordered to consult each other any time trouble arose.

These four high commissioners also would supervise the formation and activities of an all-German economic committee dedicated to maintain and develop trade and financial links between the country's two segments.

Both the British and French appear optimistic that Russia and the west will succeed in removing most of their main differences regarding the Austrian independence treaty before the conference ends. American officials are more cautious in their outlook.

TRUCK CROPS HARDEST HIT

Harrisburg, June 16 (AP)—Pennsylvania's only casualty of the current three-week dry spell is the truck crop. Forest lands and water reservoirs are affected only slightly.

The State Forests and Waters department reported today there have been only a few scattered forest fires. They amount to virtually nothing compared to what might have been the case if the prolonged drought occurred in the fall when forests are tinder-dry.

Only one Community - Beaver Meadows in Luzerne county—has been hit by a water shortage. The town's reservoir ran dry last weekend. The dry spell was compounded by a theory that mine cave-ins may have shifted underground water channels.

"All in all the situation is good," said R. J. Gillis, director of the State Bureau of Waters. "The drought is unseasonal but it is far from being dangerous or critical."

The State Agriculture department reported that truck crops like strawberries and raspberries are being curtailed by the lack of rain. It also said potatoes need rain for continued good growth and dry soil is delaying the setting of cabbage plants in some sections.

Nevada is the sixth state in area in the U. S. but its population is smaller than that of any other state.

The population of New York City is greater than that of many countries in Europe.

SENATE ADDS 3 AMENDMENTS TO LABOR BILL

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, June 16 (AP)—A proposal to nail into the Truman labor bill a fourth provision related to the Taft-Hartley act—A non-Communist oath requirement—comes up today in the Senate.

Three other amendments which have a Taft-Hartley look about them were added to the administration measure by the Senate yesterday in the first voting of its long labor law debate.

The changes, all approved by voice votes with no audible opposition, would (1) require unions, as well as management, to bargain in good faith; (2) guarantee freedom of speech, short of threats or promises of benefits, in labor relations; and (3) require both unions and employers to file annual financial reports.

Not Approved By Truman

Those provisions are not in every case identical to sections of the T-H law, but the differences generally are slight. The amendments had no blessing from President Truman, who publicly has opposed any revision of the administration bill.

That bill would repeal the Taft-Hartley law and replace it with a slightly modified version of the old Wagner act.

The big test is yet to come, on a substitute offered by Senator Taft (R-Oio) and two other Republicans. It would keep all the basic Taft-Hartley provisions, including labor-hatinjunctions to halt national emergency labor disputes, and the ban on the closed shop.

Would Bar Communists

A group of Democrats and Republicans opposed to the Taft substitute sponsored the three amendments adopted yesterday. The same group is backing the non-Communist oath amendment which was up today.

That proposal would require the officers and the policy-making leaders of both unions and companies to file non-Communist and non-Fascist oaths if their organizations wanted to use the facilities of the National Labor Relations board.

Affidavits would not have to be filed, however, if the union or the company already was effectively barring subversive persons from leadership.

Another Issue

Under the Taft-Hartley law, only union officers are required to swear they are not Communists. The GOP-authorized substitute for the administration bill would require both union officers and employers to file affidavits.

Scheduled to come up after action on the non-Communist amendment is either a series of proposals for dealing with national emergency strikes, or a new amendment of the union's success in negotiating with 175,000 employees of U. S. Steel is expected to set the pattern for the entire industry. Any settlement reached between these two generally is accepted by the rest of the industry.

STEEL WORKERS MAKE DEMANDS

Pittsburgh, June 16 (AP)—The CIO-United Steel workers have their fourth round cards on the table.

They want a general wage increase, plus pensions and insurance benefits.

Specific dollar and cents figures were not disclosed and U. S. Steel Corporation officials gave no indication as to their reaction after a two-hour negotiation session yesterday.

However, the corporation is on record as having told the union it would not discuss pensions this year.

A joint company-union announcement of the union's demands was made by Vice President John A. Stephens of "Big Steel." They were:

1. A general (wage) increase for the entire membership.

2. Adequate pensions upon retirement or disability for each member of the union, to be paid for entirely by the employer. Compulsory retirement shall not be permitted.

3. Decent social insurance benefits for members of the United Steel Workers of America and their families, to be paid for by the employer. These shall include life, accident, health, medical and hospital benefits.

The union's success in negotiating with 175,000 employees of U. S. Steel is expected to set the pattern for the entire industry. Any settlement reached between these two generally is accepted by the rest of the industry.

Duff Says Now Is Time To Praise U.S.

Bethlehem, Pa., June 16 (AP)—Praise for America instead of "fault finding and nagging" is urged by Gov. James H. Duff.

"The time has come for Americans to assert our advantages instead of joining with those critics of America who find fault with everything," Duff told the state convention of the Great Council, Improved Order of Red Men, Tuesday night.

Duff continued: "We should give affirmative support to the American way of life, instead of finding fault and nagging. Our way of life is better than that any other people has enjoyed anywhere in all the history of civilization."

The governor leaves by train tomorrow for Colorado Springs, Colo., for the National Conference of Governors.

NTHRACITE CAN IVE BIG SOFT OAL TIMELY TIP

By LEONARD A. UNGER
Harrisburg, Pa., June 16 (AP)—The soft coal industry wants a production control, its little coal brother may have the answer.

The bugaboo of overproduction, a haunting bituminous coal operators, is something of the past for Pennsylvania's anthracite fields. It was virtually erased nearly 10 years by a voluntary allocation plan.

A talk of a similar program is cropping up in the soft coal industry.

Reason: John L. Lewis' order

his miners to lay down their tools this week. A week-long layoff.

The United Mine Workers' president, is needed to "stabilize" soft coal production.

Faced Bankruptcy

he current soft coal dilemma of high prices and lagging sales simi-lly confronted the anthracite industry in the late 30's. Hard coal

duction had been slowly tapering since the peak markets shortly after World War One. Cut-throat

marketing practices set in. Free-miners, digging "bootleg" coal

in small shafts, further com-

ounded the economic threat.

Bankruptcy stared the operators in the face. Unemployment confronted the miners. Something had to be done. State officials and producers sat down with the United

Miners and worked out an agreement to relate production to market demand.

The program took on official ognition with enactment by the state legislature of what is now as the "Production Control

for the anthracite industry."

Voluntary Plan

strictly voluntary, the plan called establishing the weekly production figure of the industry. Then cooperating producer accepted

certain percentage of the total duction, based on what might be his share of the market for the week.

Three state officials, three opera-

ors and three top union men formed committee which fixed the quotas.

Market estimates were made by an advisory board of 14 sales executives.

The plan worked out so effectively in the beginning that there has been need for only a few refinements.

As the plan became fully operative, the industry saw economic ability restored. Producers met in payroll regularly. Plunging prices became more stabilized even though the committee has nothing to do with fixing prices. And miners and their working time unbroken

the long overproduction layoffs of the past.

reception was tendered the Rev. Mrs. Harry B. Simons and son, David, by the Women's Society of Christian Service of Centenary Methodist church Wednesday evening in the Sunday school room. It was attended by approximately 50 members and friends. Chester S. Byers, superintendent of the Sunday school, was the presiding officer. Refreshments were given to the new pastor and his family from the Women's Society of Christian Service by president, Mrs. Verdine Strain; the trustees by Dr. Samuel L. Ke; and from the Sunday school Chester Byers. Both the Rev. and Mrs. Simons responded with appropriate remarks. There was also a duet by Mrs. Robert Feser and Byers, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Verdine Strain. Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

The quarterly meeting of the Friendship Circle Sunday school class of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Mrs. Lloyd Humbert, teacher, was held Monday evening in the social hall of the church. Mrs. Allen Eppley, president, was in charge with Mrs. Della Collins presenting the secretary's report. Plans for future activities were discussed by the group and an imaginary food sale was conducted. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Collins. The next meeting will be held Monday, September 12.

Chapter 17

Jeff had just finished his work when Jeb King arrived. At sight of Jeb his eyes widened and he invited the Crown owner to alight and come into the house.

"Glen told us about the poisonin' of your Herefords," Jeb said. "It's the dirtiest kind of trick, and I can't believe any cattleman, even Chuck Gale, could do such a thing."

"That's right, Mr. King. It doesn't look like the work of a cattleman, yet Chuck's the only man I can think of that owes me a grudge."

Jeff made a tired gesture. "That's all right as a theory; what I've got to have before I can make a move is proof. The best thing to do is to try and trace that poison."

"Find out what it was?"

"Arsenic."

"Meanwhile, what are you aimin' to do for a living?"

"I've got to get me a job. Fact is, Mr. King, I intended asking you if you could use another hand on the Crown."

"I sure could; but not you, Jeff. You're cut out for bigger things than just ridin' range. Why not let me stock you up? Business proposition entirely: I'd hold a mortgage on the stock and the homestead."

"No, sir. I appreciate the offer more than I can say, but I'm going to stand on my own feet or not at all."

"H-m-m." Jeb observed him from beneath shaggy brows. "Well, here's somethin' else, then. You're worth more than a cowhand job would pay. John Stover's dead and the marshal's job is open. If you take it, you'll have every chance to run down the no-good son who poisoned your cattle. I can land the job for you, and Cougar'll thank me for gettin' such a good man for 'em. It pays a hundred and twenty a month. How does that strike you?"

Jeff straightened in his chair, his eyes brightening. What Jeb had said was true; Cougar needed a marshal and he knew he could fill the job. But what appealed to him was the chance to track down the man who had poisoned the cattle.

"Well-i-i—"

"You'll take it?" Jeb got up. "Fine! See me in the bank tomorrow mornin' and get your badge."

Glen Gleason sat in his law office at Briscoe studying some papers on the desk before him. The door opened and a man silently stepped into the room. Glen looked up.

"Good evenin', Mister Gleason," said Slug Benjamin.

Gleason got slowly to his feet. "What are you doing here?"

Slug came forward to the edge of the light, his hand resting lightly on the butt of the gun on his hip. "Just a friendly little call, Mister Gleason, to collect my share of the dust you pinched from Sam Tolson's cabin."

Gleason rounded his desk and sat down on a corner. "I don't get the joke, Slug—if it's supposed to be a joke. I didn't steal Sam's gold."

"My bunch still says you got it," insisted Slug coldly. "I don't know how much you got, but I'll settle for five hundred dollars' worth."

"You'll settle for five hundred! You certainly have gall, Slug. In the first place, I didn't take Sam's gold; in the second, it's you who owes me five hundred. And you even owe me for about ten dollars' worth of grub you took, to say nothing of the horse and rig you used."

"Don't be funny," advised Slug. "You can write that extra five hundred off against experience. Just like you'll write this five hundred you're goin' to fork out right now." His hand had tightened on the gun butt and there was grim purpose in his eyes.

Gleason slowly turned away. "All right. You win, Slug."

He half turned and his right hand streaked to the Derringer which he wore in a holster under his left arm. He jerked the weapon out and leveled it across his chest at Slug, catching the unsuspecting gunman flat-footed.

"Put up your hands, Slug! Quick! Drop the glove. That's right. . . . Now draw that sixshooter slowly and with the fingers on your left hand. . . . Easy! Keep the muzzle down. Now drop it."

The gun thudded to the floor and Gleason relaxed, going around the desk and seating himself. The Derringer did not waver. He sat there for a moment thinking.

"I guess I ought to hand you over to the law, Slug. You'd hang, you know. But that wouldn't get me the five hundred you owe me, would it? Or do you happen to have it with you, Slug?"

He got up, came around the desk, his gun still menacing the man.

"Turn around. Keep your hands up."

Slug reluctantly turned, and Gleason, nudging him in the back with the Derringer, proceeded to search him. He found a wallet with a few notes in it, but no money belt, no other cache where money could be hidden. He stepped back.

"Rustle up that five hundred, Slug, and leave it where I can get it. I'm letting you go this time. If you haven't paid up by next time we meet, you won't find me so soft-hearted. Now get out, and get out fast. And don't come back—unless you bring the five hundred with you."

His face contorted with anger and humiliation. Slug backed out of the room.

Gleason closed and locked the door after him. He picked up the gun and glove Slug had dropped, stood for a moment turning them over in his hands, then wet to the desk and put them in the bottom drawer.

"I don't know. I just wondered. . . . Well, I must run along. Come out to the Crown when you can; we'll be anxious to know how you're making out. Bye!"

Chapter 18

Connie drove away rather hurriedly, leaving him looking after her much in the same manner he had looked after Chuck Gale. Was Connie, too, hinting that Glenn might in some manner be responsible for the loss of his stock? Connie, of all people?

He went up to the office and looked through John Stover's files until he found a folder labeled Slug Benjamin. Here he found an account of Slug's arrest in Stover's handwriting.

Aug. 12. Shot Amos Grubb, who had accused him of stealing gold. Grubb went after him on Main Street without a gun. Slug fired three shots. First two missed. Third killed Grubb. Claimed self-defense. Arrested him for murder.

Searched him. Six dollars and forty cents in notes and silver. Knife, gun, watch, papers, tobacco, matches. Silver mounted rabbit's foot. Held for grand jury.

There followed notations showing the hours of Glenn's visits, and a brief account of Slug's escape after killing the night guard. That was all except for a single line at the foot of the page.

Shot Sam Tolson last night. Me next?

Jeff went over to Glenn's place and let himself in. He was a bit angry with himself. "Person'd think I was trying to pin something on the boy," he grumbled. "I ought to be kicked. But Glenn said Slug gave him five hundred dollars, and I can't help wondering where Slug got it."

Jeff rode to Briscoe the next day and sought out Sheriff Mort Shane. He talked with Shane and promised his cooperation in exchange for any help he might need from the sheriff.

Jeff said good-bye and started for Glenn's office. The red and green globes of an apothecary shop halted him in his tracks. He turned and entered the place and an elderly man came up to wait on him.

"I'm Marshal Tyler from Cougar," announced Jeff, and showed his badge. "You sold any arsenic lately?"

"Arsenic? Yes. I think I have. Some time last week, I believe. Let me see; it was a stranger who bought it. Of course! It was that new lawyer that just opened an office in town. What's his name? Griever, or—"

"Gleason?"

"That's it! Gleason."

"Nobody else?"

"Nobody else. Not recently, that is. Not for several months."

"Thanks."

Jeff walked blindly from the shop. Glenn had bought arsenic. Glenn!

He headed for Glenn's office, stunned, unbelieving, for the moment incapable of coherent thought. Glenn had purchased arsenic. Why? In another moment he would know and would hate himself for doubting the boy.

Glenn was at his desk and was surprised to see him.

"Well! What brings you to Briscoe? Don't tell me they've promoted you to sheriff already!"

Jeff forced a grin, assumed an air of casualness which he was far from feeling. "Not just yet. Came over to get acquainted with Shane and the county attorney. I'm supposed to work with them, you know. And while I'm here I thought I'd drop around at the drug store and find out if anybody bought arsenic recently. You haven't been buying the stuff, have you?"

Glenn sat down on the corner of the desk. "Yep," he said cheerfully. "Got quite a lot of it; didn't know it was so cheap. Come and take a look." He motioned Jeff to follow him into the back room which he had fitted out as a kitchen, and pointed out bits of cheese and bacon and bread in the corners, on the cupboard and behind the stove. They're plastered with arsenic. This place was alive with rats when I moved in. I've got four of 'em already—nice big fat fellows. I may go in for bigger game later on, but so far I haven't tried it out on cows."

The relief was so great that Jeff laughed aloud.

"The arrest is off, Bud; there's absolutely no law against killing rats."

"By the way, this is the first chance I've had to congratulate you on the new job, Jeff. It's swell! Between us we should be able to stock up the old JT in no time, eh?"

"Thanks, Glenn. I'm not rich in worldly goods, but I have something a heap more satisfying—friends. Yes, we'll restock it in time. Meanwhile, this job is going to keep me pretty busy. I've got to round up Slug Benjamin, find out who's stealing the Crown stock, and catch the jigger who poisoned my Herefords. Also, I've been told that I'm expected to ride herd on the bank's gold shipments."

"I don't envy you the least—with fellows like Slug on the loose."

"One man wouldn't stand a ghost of a chance. The gold is moved in a light wagon with two guards inside, another one on the seat, and me roaming around front and back."

"How far do you have to cart it?"

"From Cougar to the express office here in Briscoe."

"That's a long trip for a wagon."

"Take a full day, won't it?"

"Yes. I suppose we start early in the morning and camp along the way for dinner. That noon stop looks like the danger spot to me, made you ask that?"

"I don't know. I just wondered. . . . Well, I must run along. Come out to the Crown when you can; we'll be anxious to know how you're making out. Bye!"

but of course we'll camp in the open where nobody can jump us without warning." He got up. "Well, I'll have to be moving along. Shane said he saw Slug around Briscoe and he's having the town combed for him. I want to drop in and see if he's had any luck, then start back for Cougar. Somebody might steal Main Street while I'm away. So long, Counselor; when you're around my way stop into my office and we'll have a spot of tea."

PATTON LEGEND REACHES OVER TIME, DISTANCE

By HAL BOYLE

Hamm, Luxembourg, June 16 (P)—There is a grave here big enough for a man, but too small to hold a legend.

In the grave lies Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., and it holds him securely. But his legend reaches across the miles and years to all those who respected what he lived by and that was leadership.

They didn't bury "George" here, they just put him underground. But nobody shoveled earth on what he stood for nor can anyone as long as men put their faith in valor.

Perhaps the word is glory. George used that word often. He liked the sound of it and he believed in it. He didn't fight the system under which mankind has dwelt in worry and wonder since Cain killed Able.

This Surprising Order

He took it as it has been. He said it would probably continue and he believed and lived and died in that belief—that man is born to warfare and that since his heritage is struggle, those who struggle with the firmest courage are the people who face life in the finest way.

There is probably a wisdom above war called peace—the world's unknown adventure. Whether peace is good or bad for the human race has never been fully determined because always since the Garden of Eden this race, facing life with more vanity than the insects but with four fewer legs, has expressed its frustrations in a sterile pattern of violent violence.

In individual cases these outbreaks are classified as homicide, a kind of crime. In the cases of nation against nation there is the softer word, war, a kind of polite and collective murder. Under this surprising moral order you can be hanged for killing a man you have a personal grievance against or can be rewarded with a medal for killing 25 strangers you don't know.

More Honest Than They

George Patton took mankind as it is and as it always has been. His real monument was a ruthless, personal honesty. He believed that people, being what they are, made war inevitable, not just once but over and over.

Because his courage came out of his mouth as well as his heart, because he spoke as bravely and straightforwardly as he acted, he was sometimes in hot water with the American people. He was more honest with them than they were with him. They compromised and quibbled. He acted. He did what they wanted done.

They wanted victory and he gave it to them. There are diplomats in military as well as civilian life. Diplomats want success without the attrition and risk of gambling.

An American Landmark

George was smart enough to know that a bold general spends men's lives to save other men's lives. To him, to die in battle for your country was the supreme glory. George didn't create the system, it created him.

And until men think of glory in other terms, General Patton will remain an American landmark.

The grave holds George Patton but his legend is world wide—the story of courage in our time and bravery as he honored it.

Mankind may kid itself, but George didn't.

Abbottstown

Abbottstown — The Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts of this place and their parents made a trip to Philadelphia Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swope and Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Altland spent the week-end in New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gill, Westminster, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Crowl.

Thieves broke in the chicken house at the late Robert E. Noul property last Wednesday night and stole about 25 chickens. The theft was not discovered until the next morning.

Stephen Wolf recently fell off the back of a truckload of hay and broke one lens of his glasses. He also received numerous brush burns around the face and head.

Flowers were placed on the altar of Emmanuel Reformed church Sunday in memory of Harry Stambaugh. Mr. Stambaugh was a former superintendent of the Sunday school and held office in the church council for a number of years. He was the local postmaster when he died.

Babe Ruth and Mel Ott are the major league record holders in runs batted in.

FIND WOMAN'S BODY

Norristown, Pa., June 16 (P)—The body of a 48-year-old Phoenixville woman, reported missing Sunday night, was found Tues. night in the Schuylkill river near Black Rock bridge. A search party found the body of Anna Kirk floating on the stream. James McManus, Jr., 22-year-old nephew of the missing woman, was a member of the search party.

GOOD RECORDS ARE MEANT TO BE BEATEN

★ The infantile death rate in the United States is very low. From 1934 to 1936 we ranked seventh in the world, led only by New Zealand, Holland, Australia, Norway, Switzerland, and Sweden.

Yet 70,000 infants die annually in the first month of life, and 53,000 more from the second to the twelfth month. How many of these precious infants might have lived had their mothers had adequate prenatal care under the direction of a competent physician?

It is now up to the mothers to take advantage of the knowledge and skill of the physician during the trying months of pregnancy. We are ready to supply the needed dietary supplements and other medication ordered by your physician.

HOME INNOCENT ILL BE HURT BY FBI RECORDS

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 16 (AP)—Some decent people and the FBI will suffer if secret FBI files come to be made public.

man accused of Communism, when there's so much excitement about it, is smeared in the lie mind and may be ruined. The accusation of an informant in FBI file, that a man is a Communist doesn't necessarily mean he is or even that the FBI thinks so.

It may or may not be. Some of FBI information is true, some also. It's gathered in various ways: From regular FBI agents; from undercover agents; and others who may be sane, crazy, fit, stupid, loyal or revengeful.

Intended To Be Secret
The FBI checks on Communists to prevent spying, smash conspiracies, ready for a nation wide crack-down in case of emergency.

All kinds of information, true or false, go into its files for immediate investigation or future reference, if need be.

While it remains secret, no one is fit. But when it's thrown wide in the public can't tell what's true this collection of truths, untruths, speculations and accusations.

And that's when innocent people get the work of the FBI both get maged. This is why: At the trial

Judith Coplon, charged with spying for Russia, the judge ordered secret FBI information made public. The FBI said it had found on her.

Files Were Opened
The judge did this to give her a fair trial so the jury wouldn't have to act on hearsay. Neither the FBI nor the government prosecutors

New Oxford

New Oxford—There was a large attendance Sunday morning when the Holy Name society of Immaculate Conception Catholic church attended the 7:30 mass at the church in a body and received Holy Communion. After the services, the men went to the parochial hall where they participated in the organization's annual Communion breakfast, prepared and served by the parish women.

G. L. Rutter, who came from Hanover to open the new Pleasant want this information exposed. But the prosecutors yielded.

Why did they? It was either do it or drop the case against Miss Coplon. Why didn't they drop it, then? Maybe because they feared this would encourage would-be spies to go ahead in the belief that any time secret information was involved the government would be unable to prosecute.

The files were opened and out tumbled the names of many people, not connected with Miss Coplon at all but accused of Communism, they made denials. But now they're linked in the public mind with Communism.

If, using this as a precedent, judges in future government trials order secret FBI files made public, innocent people are bound to suffer. Why? For the reasons given above.

Street Market here, conducted his grand opening on Saturday.

Gerald L. Grindoff, teacher at the Pine Run schoolhouse which recently closed for the summer, announces that of all his pupils only Priscilla Jane Yohe, younger daughter of Kenneth Yohe, completed a perfect attendance record for the entire year. Those perfect in attendance during the last month were: Helen Walker, Kyle Hughes, Barbara Staub, Geraldine Staub, Ruthetta Staub, Richard Diehl, Barbara Jones, Kathryn Arentz, Wayne Stock, Donald Schaefer, Richard Walker, Eugene Staub, Gene Noble, Robert Jones, Elizabeth Hoff, Priscilla J. Yohe, Peggy Haar, Mary Louise Swope and Gerald Staub.

If your tires
wear smooth in the center—
READ THIS ABOUT THE GREAT GULF TIRE

WHY DO so many tires wear smooth down the center, yet still have good rubber along the edges?

It's simply because their tread design forces the center area to bear the brunt of the load.

But with the Gulf Tire it's a different story. This tire is designed with a wider, flatter tread that distributes the load of your car more evenly. As a result, the Gulf tread wears more evenly from one edge to the other—lasts far longer.

STIR CAUSED BY PROBE OF U.S. TEXTBOOKS

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 16 (AP) — In its search for Communism and Communist influence the House Un-American Activities committee is now going into the field of education. The committee has picked at random about 100 schools, big and small, and asked for a list of their textbooks in general use.

What caused this? The main-spring was a petition from the Sons of the American Revolution, which claims 20,000 members who had ancestors serving this country in Revolutionary war days.

The organization had a convention in Florida last month and approved a resolution to send the petition to the Un-American Activities committee, asking for an investigation of school textbooks.

Need Names Only

A number of top educators already have protested the move taken by the committee but the chairman, Rep. Woods, Georgia Democrat says: For a couple of years the committee has been receiving complaints that some of this country's school books are slanted in favor of Russia. From whom did those complaints come? From parents, children and others.

So, Rep. Woods says, when the petition came from the Sons of the American Revolution, the committee decided to act and sent out its letter asking for the names of the textbooks used.

The committee needs only the names, for it can get copies of all the books listed from the nearby Library of Congress, Wood says. But who'll check the books, looking for Communist propaganda?

Have Staff Ready

Wood says that can be done by the staff of about 35 people who do research for the committee and put together the various pamphlets on Communism issued by the committee.

Rep. Nixon, California Republican and a member of the committee, explains that this is only a check and that if it turns up something the committee considers worth investigating, it will then investigate. Dr. Edmund Ezra Day, president

East Berlin

East Berlin—Franklin S. Kunkel made a business trip to Harrisburg during the past week.

The Gleaners' class of Trinity Lutheran Sunday school conducted a food sale on the church lawn on Friday afternoon.

Donald Spangler, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cameron C. Spangler and a student at the local high school who was severely injured in an auto crash over the Memorial Day weekend, is somewhat improved although is expected to remain at the Hanover hospital for several months. The youth's pelvic bone, shoulder and both legs were fractured and he has been in care of a bone specialist.

"Red-baiters, Black-haters"

Infiltration, not by those attacking Communism, but by those who, under the guise of attacking Communism, attack something quite different." He said he referred to academic freedom.

Dr. George F. Zook, president of the American Council of Education, told the committee its survey raises "very grave issues."

The committee asked Wellesley college for a list of its books and the retiring president, Mrs. Mildred McAfee Horton, who was wartime commander of the navy's Waves, commented on this.

She spoke of the "fear which permeates our age" and said we are "surrounded by Red-baiters and black-haters."

Word was received here last week of the birth of twin sons, Eric Winslow and Mark Meisenhelder, to Mr.

and Mrs. James Howland, Cornwallis, Oregon. Mrs. Howland is the former Miss Ruth Meisenhelder, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Meisenhelder, York, and a descendant of one of East Berlin's oldest families.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schaefer and children, Donald and Sandra, south of town, were recent Dillsburg visitors.

Mrs. Hayes L. Anthony, who has been seriously ill since suffering a paralytic stroke early in May, is now able to walk with a cane and to be about her home for short periods of time.

Harold R. Shetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Shetter, who has been teaching physical education at Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., is spending the summer in study at Columbia university, New York city.

The local Fish and Game association met Tuesday evening for a regular session. State Game Protector Leo Bushman, Gettysburg, was the speaker at the meeting. The

MOSCOW PLANS TO STRANGLE YUGOSLAVIA

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

For a change we apparently are about to witness a wide-open fight in the Eastern European Communist bloc to settle a family quarrel which finally has become too serious to be kept under cover.

Russia is reliably reported about to take heavy direct action against politically rebellious Yugoslavia, headed by tough and independent Marshal Tito. Moscow and its other satellite states are said to be prepared to launch a great offensive against Yugoslavia to inflict "economic strangulation" on that premier Balkan state.

This drastic program is said to have been laid down at a meeting of the "Cominform" (successor to the Comintern, or general staff for world revolution) which has been meeting in Poland July 1 is the date said to have been fixed for the opening of the grand offensive.

Expelled Year Ago

The trouble between Moscow and Yugoslavia is that this big Balkan state is fiercely nationalistic and Tito epitomizes this spirit. That of course controverts the Communist code, which maintains that sovereignty rests in Moscow. Belgrade has refused to surrender her sovereignty.

Yugoslavia was expelled from the Cominform a year ago, after her government was accused of a policy

Bonneauville

Bonneauville—The N.C.C.W. held its regular monthly meeting in St. Joseph's hall Monday evening with Mrs. Evelyn Chrismer, the president, presiding. Following the routine business meeting, the graduates from the parochial school and their mothers were entertained and refreshments were served. Fifty-nine members attended.

Sister St. Ida, of Corpus Christi convent, Philadelphia, spent the week-end at St. Joseph's convent hateful to Russia and of other deviations from Marxist-Leninist theory. Tito himself was roundly castigated.

Now the strategy of the economic offensive against Yugoslavia is to cut that country off from all trade with Russia and the satellite countries of eastern Europe.

Wheels Turning

All this being so, Tito's natural move will be to turn to the Western Democracies for supplies. Will he get them, or will the Democracies merely chortle and say: "You made your bed, now lie in it?"

As the signs read, the Western nations are likely to welcome the chance to deal with Tito. By so doing they might kill two birds with one stone—that is, they would establish a useful trade which western Europe needs, and this would tend to widen the breach between Moscow and Belgrade.

The wheels are starting to turn.

LUCKIES PAY MORE
to give you a finer cigarette!

Yes, at tobacco auctions Lucky Strike pays millions of dollars more than official parity prices for fine tobacco!

There's no finer cigarette in the world today than Lucky Strike! To bring you this finer cigarette, the makers of Lucky Strike go after fine, light, naturally mild tobacco—and pay millions of dollars more than official parity prices to get it! So buy a carton of Luckies today. See for yourself how much finer and smoother Luckies really are—how much more real deep-down smoking enjoyment they give you. Yes, smoke a Lucky! You'll agree it's a finer, milder, more enjoyable cigarette!

CURTIS A. WALKER, veteran independent warehouseman of Wendell, N. C., says: "Season after season, I've seen the makers of Luckies buy fine tobacco...tobacco that makes a mild smoke. I've smoked Luckies myself for 20 years." Here's more evidence that Luckies are a finer cigarette.
